Chapter 1

They Want to Suck Your

Blood

Imagine this. It's the dead of night. The moon is bright. Trees cast creepy shadows across your room. A bat floats through your open window. Before your very eyes the bat changes into a person. The person smiles, sharp fangs gleaming in the moonlight.

Stop there before you wet your pants. This is just an example of a vampire encounter. But you know from movies you could meet a vampire at any time.

Prepare Yourself

Vampires are dangerous creatures. Stories say they are people who have died. Then they come back to life. They suck the blood of the living. So if you have blood, you need to know how to outsmart vampires.

Chapter 2

Know Your Enemy

To outsmart vampires, you need to know about them. People have told vampire stories for hundreds of years. Not all stories describe the creatures the same way. But there are some signs to look for.

Vampires only come out at night. Daylight weakens or kills them. Did you see a guy sizzling in the sunlight? It could have been a vampire.
